ELISA VELLIA

In her performance, Elisa takes us on a journey through her own story. This is her journey from Corfu to Athens, from London to Brittany. In her melodies and songs, the Greek poets and the light of the islands merge with the wind of the Atlantic Ocean, and the Celtic universe.

The desire for adventure, the richness of encounters, and the hope of returning resonate and take us to a luminous elsewhere, very close to our own roots, in a common language.

„With her authenticity, her deep inspiration and her openness, Elisa Vellia is a great singer who brings all the fragments of life, lost in the mists of time, to our ears.”

Luigi Elongui, World Magazine

The Greek singer-songwriter Elisa Vellia was born in Corfu and grew up in Athens. She left her country for adventure and travel. In London, on the underground, she discovered the Celtic harp. She later settled in Brittany. Between her native land and her adopted land, between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic, she sings in Greek about her roots and her emotions, giving new life to the harp and weaving her own musical universe.
