PROGRAM

Christine Strahm and Lucius Schubert are Duo Adelante: two sets of plucked strings, from the harp and the mandolin! Together, these strings interweave to create everything from touching moods to fiery, stomping melodies. The duo's broad repertoire ranges from their own compositions to folk music from all over the world, and also ragtime, film music and selected classical pieces.

Christine Strahm, who grew up in a family of musicians and began playing her instrument at an early age, is now an award-winning harpist and harp teacher. Lucius Schubert has also been making music with his heart and soul since childhood. Today he plays the guitar, mandolin and violin, in many different ensembles.

Christine and Lucius are joined by their children for their family band: Andri-Michael Strahm on saxophone, Djamilia Strahm on violin, Gian Zaugg on harp and Laurin Zaugg on accordion. You can hear them at a wide variety of events: music school openings, birthday garden parties, in church, and as street musicians at home and abroad!
